How are city and county governments coordinating efforts that will bring us closer to becoming Blue Green Neighborhoods?

Florida's 10 Regional Planning Councils are providing regional leadership on resilience and sustainability. The East Central Florida Regional Planning Council has formed the East Central Florida Regional Resilience Collaborative (ECFR2C) to coordinate resilience efforts among the 8 counties and 78 cities in the region. Similar efforts are taking place in other regions of Florida.

Chris Castro, the Director of Sustainability & Resilience for the City of Orlando, and Jeff Benavides, the Chief Sustainability and Resilience Officer of Orange County serve on the steering committee of the East Central Florida Regional Resilience Collaborative.

Presentations will be followed by dialogue facilitated by Rev. Russell Meyer, and an opportunity to ask questions.
